TERMS AND CONDITIONS

This is a public and mail bid auction conducted by Classical Numismatic Group, Inc. (CNG). Bidding in the auction constitutes acceptance of the following terms and conditions.

1. The property listed in this catalogue is offered for sale by CNG for itself and as agent for various owners and other consignors. We reserve the right to reject any bid, to determine the opening price, to set bidding increments, to vary the order of the auction, to reopen bidding in the case of a dispute, to withdraw any lot, to bid on behalf of CNG, to bid on behalf of the consignor, and to permit the consignor to bid on his own material whether to protect a lot or for any other purpose.
2. All lots are subject to a 10% Buyer's fee which will be added to the hammer price.
3. All coins are guaranteed genuine. Grading and other descriptions are the opinion of the cataloguer, and no warranty is expressed or implied. Please note that an auction sale is not an approval sale. Lots examined prior to the sale and lots purchased by floor bidders (including bidders executing commission bids on behalf of other parties) may not be returned for any reason except authenticity. All claims of misdescription and all claims of return for any other reason, except claims regarding authenticity, must be made within 5 days of receipt of material. Estimates are intended as a guide only and not as a statement of opinion of value.
4. Terms are for cash, with invoices being due and payable immediately upon receipt. Interest and collection charges of 1.5% per month, from the date of the auction, shall be payable on invoices not settled within 30 days of the sale date. Payment by check must be made in either US dollars ($) drawn on a US bank or British sterling (£) drawn on a British bank. All successful bidders outside North America and the United Kingdom will be invoiced an additional $15 fee for bank charges, but buyers may deduct this fee if payment is made as required above. Payment may be made by Visa, Mastercard (Access) or American Express; however, a 3.5% surcharge is made for the use of a credit card.
5. Bidders not known to us must provide us with satisfactory credit references or pay a deposit as determined at CNG's discretion before bidding. Minors are not permitted to bid without written consent of a parent guaranteeing payment. CNG may require payment in full from any bidder prior to delivery of lots. Title does not pass until lots are paid in full. Upon receipt of lots, the buyer assumes full responsibility for loss or damage.
6. Estimates are in U.S. dollars ($US) and bids must be in even dollar ($) amounts. CNG will execute mail bids on behalf of mail bidders. Where competition permits, mail bids will be executed at approximately 10% over the next highest bid. Please note that bids below estimate are rarely reduced, but bids above estimate stand a good chance of being reduced. In the case of identical bids, the earliest bid wins. A mail bid has priority over an identical floor bid. Bid by lot number. No lots will be broken. Bidders are responsible for errors in bidding. Check your bid sheet carefully.
7. A word on Reserves. CNG reserves the right to place a reserve on any lot. However, no reserve will be higher than the estimate, and ordinarily lots are reserved at 60% of estimate.
8. Bidders personally guarantee payment for their successful bids, including bidders executing commission bids from other parties and bidders representing corporations or other entities. Buyers accepting commission bids from other parties do so at their own risk and remain responsible to CNG for full settlement under these Terms and Conditions.
9. In the event a successful bidder fails to make any payment when due, CNG reserves the right to resell the material, and the bidder agrees to pay for the reasonable cost of such a sale and also to pay any difference between the resale price and the previously successful bid. CNG also reserves the right to offset any sums due from a successful bidder against any future consignment or purchase or monies or goods in possession of CNG.
10. Sales tax, postage, handling and insurance are the responsibility of the buyer and are added to all invoices where appropriate. Postage, handling and insurance for book lots will be invoiced separately from coin lots. On any tax not paid by the purchaser which should have been paid, even if not invoiced by CNG, the purchaser agrees to pay the same on demand together with any interest or penalty that may be assessed. It is the responsibility of the buyer to comply with foreign customs and other regulations.
11. Prices Realised are published after the sale and are mailed to all subscribers to CNG publications.
12. Bidders consent to waive any claim for incidental or consequential damages arising from this auction. The sole remedy that any participant in the auction shall have for any claim or controversy arising out of the auction shall be a refund of the original purchase price and buyer's premium paid by the participant.
13. All rights granted by CNG or otherwise available to bidders and purchasers, under these Terms and Conditions or otherwise, are personal and may not be assigned or transferred to any other person or entity, whether by operation of law or otherwise. No third party may rely on any benefit or right conferred by these Terms and Conditions. Bidders acting as agents must disclose the agency in writing to CNG prior to the auction; otherwise rights are limited to the agent and are not transferable to the undisclosed principal.
14. Any dispute regarding this auction shall be adjudicated only by a state or federal court located in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, and all bidders submit themselves to the personal jurisdiction of these courts for this purpose. In any dispute regarding this auction, the prevailing party shall be entitled to recover its reasonable attorney fees.

GOOD LUCK, and remember to mail your bid sheet early.
Bid sheets must be received by Thursday, May 4, 1995.

NOTICE TO ALL SUCCESSFUL BIDDERS:

Nude warrior, except for helmet, on horseback right, about to hurl short javelin; Nike bearing small wreath behind him along with a small eight-rayed star; below horse, ΦΙ and ΠΙ - Μ / ΤΑΡΑΣ, Taras astride dolphin left above waves, holding one-handed vase. Vlasto 537 (this coin); Collection Claudius Côte 199 (this coin). Toned VF, die flaw across body of horse. Unique? ($500)

Oscar Ravel notes in his catalogue of the Vlasto collection that the obverse die of this coin is shared with his number 536, with the addition of the small eight-rayed star to the die. These were the only two coins of this obverse type in this collection, both with different reverse types. He also notes that on the tail of the dolphin there are traces of a "microscopic signature K", and indeed, under our microscope, there does appear to be a letter on the tail, but which one - it is difficult to say! Ravel describes this coin as unique, which may still be very likely, even with all of the hoards of Tarentum nomoi discovered since the publication of his study in 1948.

11. Tarentum. Time of Alexander the Molossian. Circa 334-330 BC. AR Nomos (7.94 gm). Youth on horseback, crowning himself; ΣΑ and Ionic capital below / Taras astride dolphin left, holding coiled snake and whip, [ΤΑΡ]ΑΣ behind; ΚΟΝ below. Vlasto 657. Good VF, haymarked flan. ($250)

The context and meaning of the types of the Derrones' dodekadrachms are still being debated. Little is known of this tribe other than their surviving coinage. Hoard find-spots suggest that they inhabited inland Paeonia. The obverse type depicts a male figure that is most likely the tribal king and hereditary high priest; the helmet marks their warrior affiliations and the flower represents their fertility religion. The reverse type is possibly one of the Derrones' gods, a warrior, that protects them; a typical mainstay of Thracian religion.

A Rare Olympian Silver Stater

110. ELIS, Olympia. Circa 421-365 BC. AR Stater (12.08 gm). Head of eagle left, leaf below / F A, winged thunderbolt in wreath. Seltman 152 (BT/γτ); Dewing 1869-1871. Good VF, worn dies. ($2000)

This series of Elis staters is characterized by a limited number of dies that show the effects of extensive overuse; a multiplicity of die defects partially repaired by re-cutting. Seltman suggests this issue is a direct result of the Peace of Nikias in 421 BC, a temporary truce in the Peloponnesian War that, among other clauses, allowed Athenians and their allies full access to the sacred site of Olympia. The increase in commerce would place heavy demands on the Elian mint. Alternatively, Nicolet-Pierre places the issue at the conclusion of the war, circa 400 BC, with the same results, an increase in demand for circulating coinage.

A Fine Selection of Rhodian Coinage

From its earliest history, the island of Rhodes, situated off the coast of Caria, held an important place in the economic development of the Greek world. Conveniently located on the main trade routes between east and west, and having the advantage of a large natural harbor, Rhodes sent its fleets across the entire Mediterranean, becoming not only a wealthy maritime trading center, but also a naval power.

In about the year 408 BC, the cities of the island agreed to establish a central capital on the harbor, naming it after the island. If Richard Ashton is correct, this is the starting point of the extensive coinage issues that emanated from the mint at Rhodes, influencing commerce in the Mediterranean for the next four centuries. The mint adopted the weight standard that originated on the island of Chios in the 6th century BC, since its tetradrachm of circa 15.6 grams proved useful in exchanging amounts rendered in either Aeginetan staters in the west or Persian sigloi in the east. Rhodian drachms served as an important trade currency until the first century BC, when Rome curtailed the commercial activity of the city, seeing a rival whose presence could not be tolerated. The popularity of the Rhodian type is typified by Mr. Ashton's analyses of 2nd century BC drachms (NumChron 1987, 1988), which on the basis of hoard finds and identification of magistrates has proven that they were struck in diverse places; Caria, Crete and mainland Greece, probably as payment to mercenaries.

As a type the city quickly settled on a standard that, while changing in style through the years, would remain fairly constant throughout its minting history. On the obverse, a head of the sun god Helios, either with a radiate crown or with wild curling locks of hair, both symbolizing the rays of the sun. The reverse bore a rose, a punning reference to the city (ροδοσ). Helios would be assimilated with the god Apollo, and in many cases no distinction is made between the two. Mr. Ashton has identified a distinctive right-facing portrait of Helios as a type based on the Colossus of Rhodes, the massive bronze statue of Helios designed by Chares of Lindos and set above the harbor in 280 BC (RN 1988). Although only standing for fifty-six years before collapsing in an earthquake, the statue would remain as a symbol of the city, becoming known as one of the seven Wonders of the Ancient World. This list, originally compiled by Greek travellers recounting their discoveries, is still repeated in modern times, its story finding its way into the editorial pages of science fiction magazines (Asimov's Science Fiction Magazine, April 1995, pp. 6-10). The fragments of the statue, by the way, lay around the harbor until the 7th century AD, when an enterprising (and hearty) Arab scrap merchant dredged them up and sold them.

Rare and Unpublished Tarsos Silver Stater

172. Tarsos. Circa 425 BC. AR Stater (10.07 gm). Warrior striding left, holding vertical spear in right hand and horizontal spear in left; ankh to left / "TRZ" in Aramaic, forepart of Pegasus right in dotted incuse square. Unpublished in the major references. VF, porosity. Rare. ($750)

The earliest stater of Tarsos, the unique piece with Bellerophon and Pegasus illustrated in Archaic and Classical Greek Coins (#1031), is attributed to the local Syennesisid dynasty, circa 430 BC. By the following decade Persian pressure had overwhelmed the local house, Persian motifs and the Aramaic name for the city becoming standard features of the coinage, although Bellerophon and Pegasus would appear on certain later issues probably intended for payment to Greek mercenaries. The striding figure on the obverse is neither clothed as a Persian courtier nor unclothed as Bellerophon or the anonymous Greek hoplite. In his cloak and short battle dress, bearing twin spears, he may represent the Syennesis whose rule over Cilicia would be usurped by the Persian satraps to follow.

248. P. Furius Crassipes. 84 BC. AR Denarius (3.97 gm). Turreted head of Tyche right, AED CUR and a foot behind / Curule chair inscribed P FOVRIVS, CRASSIPES in exergue. Furia 19; Sydenham 735b; Crawford 356/1c. Toned good VF. ($150)

The moneyer P. Furius Crassipes and his curule aedilship, to which the obverse and reverse type refer, is known only from his coins.

249. L. Sulla. 84-83 BC. AR Denarius (4.00 gm). Diademed head of Venus right, Cupid standing before holding long palm; L. SULLA below / Capis and Lituus between two trophies, IMPER above, ITERV[M] below. Cornelia 29; Sydenham 761; Crawford 359/2. VF, lightly encrusted. Scarce. ($150)

This type was struck in a military mint traveling with Sulla in the east after his successful campaign against Mithradates VI. The obverse type of Venus refers to Sulla's belief that he was under the protection of Venus, who granted him victory in the battle against Mithradates. On the reverse, the trophies refer to the battles of Chaeronea in 86 BC and of Orchomenos in 85 BC. The capis and lituus, normally symbols of the augurate, were probably regarded by Sulla as symbolising a claim to imperium, as Sulla did not become Augur until 82 BC.

250. Q. Antonius Balbus. 83-82 BC. AR Denarius (3.83 gm). Laureate head of Jupiter right, S.C behind, R• before / Victory, holding branch and palm, in quadriga right; Q. ANTO BALB/PR in exergue. Antonia 1b; Sydenham 742a; Crawford 364/1b. Good VF. ($150)

Q. Antonius Balbus was a member of the Marian party, and in 82 BC was appointed praetor in Sardinia. Before leaving for Sardinia, this issue was struck by order of the Senate which was dominated by members of the Marian party to pay the army preparing to resist the return of Sulla. The reverse imagery reflects the expectations of Q. Antonius Balbus. Sulla was victorious, and in 82 BC., Q. Antonius Balbus was removed from his seat as praetor by L. Philippus and slain.

251. Pub. Crepusius. 82 BC. AR Denarius (3.70 gm). Laureate head of Apollo right, sceptre over shoulder; V behind, symbol before / Horseman galloping right, hurling spear; CCCCLXXXX (?) above, P. CREPVSI in exergue. Crepusia 1; Sydenham 738a; Crawford 361/1c. Toned good VF. ($150)

The moneyer Pub. Crepusius is known only from his coins, and little can be deduced as to the meaning of his coin types.

Lot 252

252. C. Mamilius Limetanus. 82 BC. AR Serrate Denarius (4.02 gm). Draped bust of Mercury right, caduceus and F behind / Ulysses walking right, his dog before; C. MAMIL behind, LIMETAN before. Mamilia 6; Sydenham 741; Crawford 362/1. Toned good VF, two shallow punctures in right obverse field, light scratches. ($150)

Both the obverse and reverse type of this coin refer to the lineage of the Mamilia family. The Mamilia gens claimed their descent from Mamilia, the daughter of Telegonus, who was the son of Ulysses, who was a descendant of Mercury.

253. L. Censorinus. 82 BC. AR Denarius (3.77 gm). Laureate head of Apollo right / The satyr Marsyas standing left with wine skin on shoulder, column behind surmounted by a draped figure; L. CENSOR before. Marcia 24; Sydenham 737; Crawford 363/1d. EF. ($225)

Little is known about L. Censorinus and it is believed that the reverse type of Marsyas was chosen because of the allusion to the moneyer's nomen, Marcia. The type refers to the musical contest between Apollo and Marsyas, which was attended with disastrous consequences to Marsyas (he was flayed alive!).

254. A. Postumius A.f. Sp.n. Albinus. 81 BC. AR Serrate Denarius (3.92 gm). Veiled head of Hispania right; HISPAN behind / Togate male standing left between fasces and legionary eagle, A ALBIN SN in field; POST. A. F. in exergue. Postumia 8; Sydenham 746; Crawford 372/2. Toned EF. ($200)

This coin refers to the praetorship of L. Postumius Albinus, an ancestor of the moneyer, over Spain in 180 BC.

L. Proculius is generally identified as the senator Proclius, who in 56 BC was condemned for misconduct. It is also believed that he may be the historian Proclius. Little is known of the Proclia gens, but it can be inferred from the choice of types that it came from Lanuvium, where the worship of Juno Sospita, also known as Lanuvina, originated.

256. Ti. Claudius Ti.f. Ap.n. Nero. 79 BC. AR Serrate Denarius (4.02 gm). Diademed and draped bust of Diana right, bow and quiver on her shoulder, S.C before / Victory, holding wreath and palm, in biga right, LXI below; [TI] CLAVD TI F/[AP N] in exergue. Claudia 5; Sydenham 770; Crawford 383/1. Lightly toned, near EF. ($150)

Ti. Claudius Nero was the grandfather of the emperor Tiberius. The true meaning of the obverse and reverse types is not known, but it has been suggested that the reverse type of Victory may allude to the successes of C. Claudius Nero, an ancestor of this moneyer, and his victory over Hannibal for which he received a triumph.

L. Cassius Longinus was the younger brother of C. Cassius, one of the murderers of Julius Caesar. The tablet marked V was used in Rome to cast a favourable vote on legislation; taken in conjunction with the head of Vesta on the obverse, this coin refers to the law of 113 which set up the special commission, presided over by L. Cassius Longinus Ravilla, for the trial of three delinquent Vestal Virgins.

The coinage of Q. Pomponius Musa feature the nine muses and Hercules Musagetes (this coin). Hercules, as leader of the choir is shown playing a lyre, and the nine muses are shown with their various attributes. Q. Pomponius Musa is known only from his coins and it can be assumed that his choice of the muses for his coins is intended as a reference to his cognomen Musa.

262. Q. Pomponius Musa. 56 BC. AR Denarius (3.84 gm). Diademed head of Apollo right, sandal behind / Thalia, the Muse of Comedy, standing left, resting on pedestal, holding mask in right hand; MVSA before, [Q] POMPONI behind. The obverse bust of Venus alludes to Pompey's consecration of the temple of Venus Victrix in 55 BC; the three trophies refer to three triumphs which were accorded to Pompey; and the capis and lituus refer to Pompey's office as augur.

264. Q. Cassius Longinus. 55 BC. AR Denarius (3.91 gm). Head of Bonus Eventus right, sceptre behind / Eagle standing right on thunderbolt, lituus behind and capis before; Q. CASSIVS below. Cassia 7; Sydenham 916; Crawford 428/3. Toned VF+, small flan. ($125)

Q. Cassius Longinus had a long and eventful career, first as moneyer, then quaestor to Pompey in 54 BC and tribune in conjunction with Marc Antony in 49 BC. He died when his ship sank escaping the pursuit of M. Marcellus Aeserninus.

Cn. Plancius had a long political career. He first served as propraetor in Africa under A. Torquatus and in 68 BC. under Q. Metellus in Crete. In 62 BC he was a military tribune in the army of C. Antonius in Macedonia and in 56 BC was quaestor of Macedonia. Cn. The obverse and reverse types refer to his activities in Macedonia and Crete.

The reverse type of this coin recalls the expulsion of the Tarquinius Superbus, the last king of Rome, by L. Junius Brutus, the moneyer's ancestor, who in 509 BC was elected the first consul of the newly formed Republic. M. Junius Brutus held strong republican views and was strongly opposed to Pompey's intentions of achieving sole rule. At the urging of Julius Caesar, he retired to private life after being accused of a conspiracy against Pompey. Later, he took up the cause of Pompey against Caesar and was an active participant in the assassination of Caesar. He met his own death on the battlefield of Philippi opposing Caesar's successors Antony and Octavian.

267. M. Junius Brutus. 54 BC. AR Denarius (4.29 gm). Head of L. Junius Brutus right; BRVTVS behind / Head of C. Servius Ahala right; AHALA behind. Junia 30; Sydenham 907; Crawford 433/2. Good VF, nice old cabinet toning, a little flatly struck. ($300)

Scipio was Pompey's colleague in the consulship of 52 BC, and governor of Syria in 49 BC. He commanded the center line of Pompey's army at Pharsalus, after which he fled to Africa and formed an alliance with Juba, king of Numidia. Through the influence of Cato, he obtained control of the Pompeian forces and was defeated by Caesar in 46 BC at Thapsus, where, not wanting to be captured, he committed suicide. This coin was struck during Scipio's African campaign to pay the soldiers in his command.

This coin was struck by Cn. Calpurnius Piso, who served as proquaestor to the Pompeian party in Spain during the war between Caesar and Pompey. The head of Numa Pompilius records the claim of the Calpurnia gens to be descended from Calpus, the son of Numa, while the prow on the reverse refers to the naval victories of Pompey over the pirates in 67 BC.

Toned VF+/EF. ($400)

Russell C. Hollingsworth Collection. Following the battle of Thapsus in the spring of 46 BC, Julius Caesar returned to Rome to celebrate a series of triumphs. That September, Caesar set out for Spain in what would be his final campaign. Here the sons of Pompey the Great, Cnaeus and Sextus, had rallied the remains of the African forces to make one last stand against the victorious dictator. The forces met at Munda in March of 45 BC and the Pompeians were defeated, thus ending the first series of civil wars. Cnaeus was captured and executed, but Sextus escaped and survived to become a problem for the Second Triumvirate. This coin was issued by Marcus Poblilius, legatus pro praetore to Cnaeus, to pay the legions under his command in Spain.

271. JULIUS CAESAR. 49-48 BC. AR Denarius (3.97 gm). CAESAR, elephant walking right, trampling serpent / Simpulum, aspergillum, ax and apex. RSC 49; Sydenham 1006; Crawford 443/1. Toned EF. ($500)

Russell C. Hollingsworth Collection. This is the first coin struck in the name of Julius Caesar. The symbolism on the obverse apparently alludes to the conquest of good over evil, Caesar's victory over the Gauls, while the reverse alludes to Caesar's possession of the office of Pontifex Maximus.

272. JULIUS CAESAR. 46 BC. AV Aureus (8.02 gm). C. CAESAR COS TER, veiled head of Vesta right / A. HIRTIUS. PR, lituus, jug and axe. Sydenham 1017; Crawford 446/1. Good VF, attractive style. ($1500) Russell C. Hollingsworth Collection.

BRV[TVS]. PRO. COS, tripod between an axe and a simpulum. RSC 11; Sydenham 1290; Crawford 502/2. Toned EF, attractive. [See color photograph on cover]. ($2000)

Lucius Sestius served as proquaestor to Brutus in Macedonia, and it was during this proquaestorship that he struck coins. The reverse type of this coin refers to the office of pontifex, to which Brutus had been elected. Sestius, although he cultivated the memory of his commander, eventually earned the friendship of Augustus, who made him consul suffectus in 23 BC.

275. CASSIUS. 43-42 BC. AR Denarius (3.83 gm). Struck in a military mint moving with Cassius and Brutus in the east. C. CASSI. IMP LEIBERTAS, bust of Libertas right / Capis and lituus; LENTVLVS SPINT, in two lines below. RSC 6; Sydenham 1305; Crawford 500/5. Toned EF, attractive. ($1250)

P. Cornelius Lentulus Spinther and M. Servilius were joint legates to Cassius and Brutus, and both issued coins in the names of both generals. Lentulus Spinther was born in 74 BC and assumed the toga virilis in 57 BC, and in the same year was elected to the college of augurs. After the murder of Caesar, he joined the parties of Cassius and Brutus and was probably killed at Phillipi. The reverse type of this coin refers to Lentulus' appointment to the college of augurs and is one of the few instances in imperial coinage in which a moneyer used a reverse type that was personal to himself.

This moneyer was the son of the consul of 54 BC, and he was a member of the Pompeian party like his father. He was pardoned by Caesar in 46 BC, and after Caesar's assassination, he followed Brutus to Macedonia as he was among those condemned under the Lex Pedia. He won a decisive naval victory during the first battle of Phillipi, and after the deaths of Brutus and Cassius, he became a pirate. In 40 BC, he was reconciled to Mark Antony, who made him governor of Bithynia, but deserted to Octavian right before the battle of Actium and died soon thereafter.

277. LEPIDUS and OCTAVIAN. 42 BC. AR Denarius (3.55 gm). LEP-ID[VS P]ONT. MA.XIII. V. R. P. C., bare head of Lepidus right / CAESAR. [IMP. III.] VIR. R. P. C., bare head of Octavian right. RSC 2; Sydenham 1323; Crawford 495/2c. Toned VF, off-center. Rare. ($750)

Russell C. Hollingsworth Collection. This issue was struck by Lepidus to commemorate the foundation of the Second Triumvirate, and was probably struck from the proceeds of the proscriptions in preparation for the campaign against Brutus and Cassius in 42 BC. Lepidus is shown with the title Pontif Maximus, an office which he received after the assassination of Julius Caesar and held until his death in 12 BC.

This type was struck to celebrate Gaius and Lucius Caesars, the sons of Marcus Agrippa, as heirs to the imperial throne. Gaius became Princeps Iuventutis in 5 BC and Lucius in 2 BC. They died in 4 AD and 2 AD respectively, thus promoting Tiberius to heir apparent.

Russell C. Hollingsworth Collection. Marcus Agrippa was Augustus' chosen heir, and in 17 BC Augustus adopted Agrippa to insure a smooth succession. Agrippa's prominence in political affairs was emphasised in 13 BC, when two of the three moneyers included Agrippa on their coin types. Succession was not to be, though, as Agrippa died the next year (12 BC).

In "Livilla's Portrait on Roman Coins" found in the February, 1995 issue of The Celator, Matt Kreuzer convincingly argues that the correct attribution of the obverse portrait is that of Livilla, not Livia. But in deference to tradition (and not wanting to confuse anyone with a new idea), we have denoted this lot as Livia.

At the age of 25, Gaius, the youngest son of Germanicus and Agrippina Senior, became emperor. Not having the experience or military prestige to assure his elevation, Gaius had to rely on the principle of dynastic loyalty to win the support of the military and people of Rome. Accordingly, many of his coins concentrate on the dynastic theme, and the first type struck draws attention to his relationship to the founder of the empire, his great-grandfather Augustus.

Purchased from Fredrick Knobloch. An interesting coin which appears to be of ancient manufacture, probably an ancient imitation as opposed to a mule. The reverse type, without PP, is not known for Caligula nor for any of his immediate predecessors or successors. The type is known on denarii of Galba, thus suggesting a manufacture date after 69 AD.

Russell C. Hollingsworth Collection. Mariniana was the wife of Valerian and mother of Gallienus. The absence of the title Augusta would suggest that she died before the accession of her husband and son to imperial power.

Throughout most of his reign, the antoniniani coinage of Postumus was struck in Trier (probably) and it was not until the last year of his reign that Postumus opened a mint at Cologne. The issues from the new mint were all marked with the mints signature; C.C.A.A. (this coin), COL. CL. AGRIP or with the mint mark CA, which stands for Colonia Claudia Agrippina Augusta, the Roman name for the city of Cologne. This particular issue is very rare, with only one piece present in the Cuneo treasure and one piece in the Normanby hoard.

The Byzantine mint at Naples was only in operation for some fifty years, minting gold through the reign of Theodosius III, and occasionally half folles for Constans II, Constantine IV and Justinian II. Naples bronzes are almost always poorly struck on crudely prepared flans, and this piece, fully struck on a complete flan qualifies as one of the finest known.

MISCELLANEOUS

An Interesting Group of Lead Restrikes From The Dies of Carl Wilhelm Becker (1772-1830)

Carl Wilhelm Becker was a businessman with a love for art and ancient coins. After several unsuccessful business ventures he undertook training as an engraver at the Munich mint. Having had some experience as a dealer in ancient coins, including being duped by other's forgeries, he began striking his own imitations. In his lifetime Becker produced some 350 very convincing dies for ancient Greek, Roman and Medieval coins, both common and rare. It was disputed then and still today whether his intent was to defraud. True, he would produce copies to order for collectors and museums, and offered sets of his works as study collections, but his coins often enough turned up in the hands of antiquarian dealers as genuine. After his death in 1830 the dies were transferred to the Berlin Museum, which used them to strike these lead copies through the 19th century.
